2 of 2 review helpful More appealing to readers of Harper Lee than Patrick O'Brien By EricTheHalfABee Certainly not O'Brien or even Forrester Kent doesn't even compare well with Marryat He has written a 20th century story in a 18th century setting He also struggles with fundamental aspects of the story such as dialog I have often had to reread a paragraph or two one or more times to determine who was speaking and to whom Three novels in one Sixteen year old Richard Bolitho joins the British Royal Navy as a young midshipman Follow his adventures as he undergoes a severe initiation into the dangerous world of the great sailing warships 1 Richard Bolitho Midshipman 1772 a young Richard Bolitho joins the 74 gun Gorgon Naive and untested Bolitho must learn the ways of the navy quickly if he is to survive 2 Midshipman Bolitho and the Avenger 1773 Bolitho returns home to Cornwall Kent's winning hero is Richard Bolitho who is squarely in the tradition of Captain Hornblower and Midshipman Easy All of the heroic elements are here nbsp Good solid stuff that still packs a wallop nbsp mdash The New York Times
